Examiner's Comments

Upon further consideration by the examiner and after discussing the case with Georgia Epps, Supervisor for Art Unit 2873, the examiner decided to withdraw the previous species restriction requirement. Searching all of the groups would not place an undue burden on the examiner based on the overlap of limitations within the three groups of claims.

Reasons For Allowance

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: none of the prior art alone or in combination disclose or teach of the claimed combination of limitations to warrant a rejection under 35 USC 102 or 103.

Specifically regarding independent claim 1, none of the prior art alone or in combination disclose or teach of an optical device comprising: first and second elements aligned along a common axis to transform an axially symmetric beam specifically wherein the input maximum root mean square wavefront is at least 5 times the output maximum root mean square wavefront.

Specifically regarding independent claim 17, none of the prior art alone or in combination disclose or teach of an optical device comprising: a beam reshaper and first and second refractive optical elements aligned along a common axis to transform an axially symmetric beam specifically wherein the output optical beam is transformed into a flat-top intensity profile and wherein the output is achromatic.

Specifically regarding independent claim 28, none of the prior art alone or in combination disclose or teach of an optical device comprising: first group and second group of refractive optical elements aligned along a common axis to transform an axially symmetric beam specifically wherein the output optical beam is transformed into a flat-top intensity profile and wherein the output is achromatic.
